Acknowledgments

The Unlicensed Interviews began in 2018 at the Walker Art Center. This project, which has taken five or so years to realize, could not have been completed without numerous individuals who I would like to recognize here. First and foremost is my wife Coral Saucedo Lomelí. Whether it be moving to the Netherlands during COVID to join me during the Jan van Eyck residency, or debating the merits of originality over morning coffee—her love, positive energy, and creative spirit has, and always will be, a guiding force in all that I pursue. I would also like to sincerely thank my wonderful family who has been an unwavering support system in all my endeavors.

UNLICENSED would not exist without the guidance, intellect, wit, and humor of my mentor Emmet Byrne. I am forever grateful for the ways he challenged and pushed this project into areas that I could never have imagined. Additionally I am extremely grateful for the team of collaborators who helped materialize this publication. My deepest thanks to Laurenz Brunner for believing in me and for welcoming me into the Source Type family. Thanks to Astrid Vorstermans and Simone Wegman at Valiz for their guidance and trust in wanting to make an inverted "shadow book". Thank you to Meg Miller whose poetic sensibilities imbue any text she works on with an element of magic. And lastly my deepest gratitude to all of the brilliant artists and designers who allowed me to interview them. I am humbled by your generosity, and your insights have forever shaped the way I will make work.

I would like to as well thank several other individuals who have contributed to this project in one way or another. In alphabetical order: Bruno Alves de Almeida, Kian Ansari, Aryn Beitz, Simon Browne, Bryan Chu, Jo Frenken, Ryan Gerald Nelson, Rudy Guedj, Geoff Han, Marie Hoejlund, Paul John, Natalie Kelapire, Hicham Khalidi, Aliki van der Kruijs, Ming Lin, Stuart Mouritzen, Austin Redman, Sereina Rothenberger, David Schatz, Ryan J. Simons, Patrick Slack, Jasio Stefanski, Melia Tandiono, Nicholas Weltyk, Johnny Woods, Brian You, and the staff, advisors, and residents at the Jan van Eyck Academie.
